

A PLAN IN THREE STAGES

From one chair to a Lumevina house.

Prepared for Evelyn Romero · Woodland Hills, CA

THE PROBLEM

Your income stops when your hands stop.

Every dollar Lumevina earns today needs you in the treatment room. Fully booked and never sick, that still caps out at roughly $200k–$230k a year before rent, product and taxes. More hours isn't a plan, and you already need help.

THE IDEA

Earn more per hour, then earn from more hands.

First, raise what each hour in your chair earns and add money that doesn't need your hands at all. Then bring in a few young, licensed lash, brow and nail artists who have the talent but no business setup. They work under the Lumevina name, clients book them in the Lumevina app, and one Glow Rewards program ties everyone together. Their clients become your facial clients.

STAGE 1 · MONTHS 0–6

Grow your own chair

- Glow Membership (monthly)
- Add-ons at booking
- Fill empty slots, refer a friend
- Retail with auto-refill

STAGE 2 · MONTHS 6–12

Pilot: two artists

- 1–2 licensed lash / brow artists
- Booked through Lumevina
- Shared Glow Rewards
- Measure: do their clients book you?

STAGE 3 · YEAR 2–3

The Lumevina Collective

- 6–8 artists, one Lumevina space
- Lumevina app in the App Store
- Lumevina Academy (paid mentorship)
- Each stage only if the last one worked

WHAT ALREADY EXISTS

The business system is built. It needs switching on.

- Online booking with 50% deposits
- Gift certificates (treatment or dollar value)
- Owner dashboard: revenue, rebooking, no-shows
- Installable on phones (home-screen icon)
- Live payments & database (a few days' setup)
 - built
 - still to do
- Glow Rewards points, referrals, birthday perks
- Client accounts, intake & consent forms
- Invoices, settle-up, tax export, inventory
- iPhone app, packaged and ready to build
- Multi-artist booking & payouts (the Stage 2 build)

STAGE 1 · YOUR CHAIR

Added revenue per month, on top of today

Assumes about 80 visits a month at a ~$120 average ticket (facials $170–$230, waxing $20–$95). We'll swap in your real numbers from Acuity before relying on any of this.

LEVER	LOW	LIKELY	HIGH
Glow Membership · $159/mo, one facial + member pricing 15 / 30 / 50 members. Counts only the extra visits and retail members add, not visits you'd get anyway.	$600	$1,500	$3,000
Add-ons at booking · LED, dermaplaning, masks, $15–$45 One in 4 / 3 / 2 clients adds one.	$500	$800	$1,100
Retail + auto-refill · your regimen saved to each account Revenue; product is roughly half cost.	$300	$700	$1,500
Flash openings · last-minute slots pushed to phones 4 / 8 / 12 otherwise-empty hours filled at a small discount.	$480	$960	$1,440
Referrals & pre-booking · "give $25, get $25" 2 / 4 / 6 new clients a month who stay.	$300	$600	$900
Added revenue / month	$2,180	$4,560	$7,940
Added profit / year (after product & card fees)	~$20k	~$44k	~$75k

STAGES 2–3 · THE COLLECTIVE

What Lumevina earns from other artists, per month

A typical lash or brow artist grosses $5k–$9k a month. They set their own prices and are paid directly; Lumevina keeps a platform fee (about 12%) and gains the facial clients they send you.

PILOT · 2 ARTISTS	LOW	LIKELY	HIGH
Platform fees $600 / $800 / $1,080 per artist.	$1,200	$1,600	$2,160
Their clients booking your facials 3 / 6 / 10 visits per artist at ~$170.	$1,020	$2,040	$3,400
Less: space, supplies, software	–$800	–$800	–$800
Net / month	$1,420	$2,840	$4,760
COLLECTIVE · 6–8 ARTISTS, OWN SPACE	LOW	LIKELY	HIGH
Platform fees 6 / 7 / 8 artists.	$3,600	$5,600	$8,640
Cross-bookings into facials Capped by your chair; a second esthetician raises the ceiling.	$2,500	$4,000	$6,000
Lumevina Academy Small paid cohorts: "from licensed to fully booked."	$0	$1,000	$2,500
Less: multi-suite lease & running costs	–$5,000	–$5,500	–$6,500
Net / month	$1,100	$5,100	$10,640

All figures are illustrative estimates for planning, not guarantees. The low case is what happens if the lease is signed before the pilot proves demand, which is why the pilot comes first.

ADDED PROFIT PER YEAR, ONCE EVERYTHING IS RUNNING (YEAR 2–3)

Band = low to high; dot = likely. Added profit per year. The Collective's range is widest because a lease is the biggest bet in the plan.

WHAT IT COSTS TO START

Go live: Stripe (2.9% + 30¢ per payment), database
~$25/mo, texts ~$10–$30/mo

Attorney: one-hour consult $300–$600; artist agreements
$1.5k–$5k

App Store: $99/year, at Stage 2

Bigger space: only at Stage 3, only after the pilot works

RISKS, AND HOW WE HANDLE THEM

Licensing: licensed artists only, working in a licensed space

Employee rules (AB5): artists set their own prices and are paid directly; attorney signs off first

Artists leaving: make staying worth more: clients, brand, points, space

Your time: Ruben runs operations; you set quality

WHO DOES WHAT

Evelyn

The brand, the standard of care, and mentor to the artists. Stays in the treatment room.

Ruben

Operations, the app and the platform, recruiting, and the numbers.

The artists

Licensed lash, brow and nail talent running their own books under the Lumevina name.

THE NEXT 90 DAYS

- 1 Write down today's numbers from Acuity: bookings, repeat clients, no-shows, average ticket.
- 2 Switch on live payments and move booking from Acuity to Lumevina.
- 3 Launch Glow Membership and add-ons.
- 4 One-hour attorney consult on how artists are set up.
- 5 Recruit one licensed lash or brow artist and track how many of their clients book you.

Start small, prove it with one artist, and grow only on what works. The system is already built; this plan is how Lumevina outgrows one chair.
