

Fifteen members. Ninety days.

The fewest members Lumevina needs by day 90 for dues to pay every business bill, the weekly pace to get there, and how the talent search runs alongside it.

15

The minimum by day 90. Dues pay every business bill.

18

The plan by day 90, with room for a cancellation or a slow month.

30

By month 6, then 50 by year 2. Artists sign from month 4.

Members, week by week

Line: the plan. Shaded: slow to strong. Dashed: the minimum, where dues pay every business bill.

1

Days 1–90 · Members

The offer after every facial. 15 pays the bills; aim for 18.

2

Alongside · Talent

A list of 15 artists, coffee with three, pick two.

3

Day 90 · The gate

15+ members: sign two artists. Under: keep pushing.

4

After · Two engines

30 members by month 6, the pilot live, then the Collective.

The minimum

Why fifteen. Dues pay the business.

Dues arrive first. Once they cover the business's bills, everything else is profit.

The business's monthly bills

Spa costs only. Home, car and food come from her pay

Room · suite rent and utilities	$1,400
Insurance and license	$65
Website and app care	$200
Hosting, database, texts, domain and email	$65
Marketing · Instagram and chair cards	$160
Bookkeeping and tax prep, spread monthly	$50
Laundry and small supplies	$60
Every month	$2,000

What each member leaves

Per member, per month

Average dues · the plan mix	$169
6 in 10 Glow · 1 in 4 Clear Skin · the rest Ageless
Card fee	-$5.20
2.9% + 30¢
Supplies for the monthly facial	-$16
Backbar product used in the treatment
Member perks	-$5.50
10% off the shelf and 15% off add-ons, averaged
Each member leaves	$142

$$\text{$2,000} \div \text{$142} = 15 \text{ members}$$

What each step up the ladder leaves

Dues only. What's left after the business's bills is what Evelyn pays herself from

Members	Dues kept	Left for her pay
5	$712	-$1,288
15 the minimum	$2,134	+$134
18 the plan	$2,561	+$561
25	$3,558	+$1,558
30	$4,269	+$2,269
50	$7,115	+$5,115

One-time launch costs

About $705, paid back from dues above the business's bills by month 5

Founding Five kits · $160 5 × cleanser + SPF at cost	Attorney consult · about $480 Pilot terms, month 2	Chair cards · $65 A member card for the treatment room
---	---	---

Paying Evelyn too

Members for dues alone to cover the business and her monthly pay, before taxes. Her regular bookings pay her too

$3,000 a month · 36 members Business bills and pay: $5,000	$4,000 a month · 43 members Business bills and pay: $6,000	$5,000 a month · 50 members Business bills and pay: $7,000
--	--	--

Why it's growth, not moved money: a regular who came every seven weeks spent about $121 a month. As a Glow member she spends $159, comes every month, and pays first.

How to get there

Thirteen weeks. One offer at a time.

Week by week

Members by the end of each stretch · the plan

Week 1	Count what's there: facial clients from the last six months, visits a month, who already comes every four to eight weeks. Set up the Saturday scoreboard.	—
Weeks 2–3	Live payments on, booking moves to Lumevina. In the chair, Evelyn mentions it: membership opens soon, first five get a free kit. Build an early list of 15 names.	—
Week 4	Launch. The early list hears a day first, then a text and email to every client and an Instagram post. The Founding Five opens.	3
Week 5	The Founding Five fills. Kits handed over in person, and each founder's next facial booked before she leaves.	5
Weeks 6–9	The offer after every facial, next month booked on the spot. About 45 facial visits a month; one in eight says yes.	12
Weeks 10–13	Win-back texts to clients not seen in 60 days, with the member price as the reason to return. Members refer a friend; both get a free add-on.	18

Where the 18 come from

The plan, by day 90

Founding Five launch	5
Early list, text, email, Instagram
In the chair, after every facial	7
About 1 in 8 of the facial clients offered
Win-back texts	3
Clients not seen in 60+ days
Member referrals	2
Both get a free add-on
Website and checkout	1
Facial cards, the nudge, the booking upsell
By day 90	18

The offer, in the chair

Two minutes at the end of every facial

"Your skin renews about every four weeks. As a member it's $159 a month instead of $195 a visit, and I'll hold your spot for next month. Want me to book it now?"

Book it before she leaves. A facial on the calendar is a member who stays.

If week 7 ends under 7 members

Pull these levers, in this order

Personal invites

Evelyn texts her 20 most loyal clients herself. Nothing converts like her.

A member week

Anyone who joins that week gets a free LED add-on. It costs time, not product.

Show the results

Before-and-after posts with the member price on them.

Don't

Cut the dues or reopen the Founding Five. It teaches clients to wait for a deal.

Scout now. Sign at day 90.

Both run from day one. The talent search is about two hours a week, mostly Ruben, and never takes Evelyn out of the treatment room. Nothing gets signed until the members are there to offer.

Weeks 1–4

Build the list

Ask every client who does their lashes, brows and nails. Save the name, the Instagram, and how many clients mentioned her. Goal: 15 names.

Weeks 5–8

Get to know them

Follow and book the top five as a client. Coffee with three: their business, not a deal yet. The one-hour attorney consult on pilot terms.

Weeks 9–13

Pick two

The two whose clients overlap most with Evelyn's. The one-page pilot offer drafted and ready for day 90.

The day-90 gate

One number decides the next step

Day 90 · 15 or more members

Sign two artists

Offer the pilot to your best two in months 4–5, live by month 6.

- ✓ Free for 90 days, then 12% on bookings through Lumevina
- ✓ Members save 10% with them, and Lumevina pays it
- ✓ Their clients earn Glow Points to spend with Evelyn

Day 90 · under 15 members

Keep talking

Sign nothing yet. The list stays warm while members catch up.

- ✓ Thirty more days of the member push
- ✓ Use the levers: personal invites, a member week
- ✓ Check again at day 120

Why members first An artist signs for clients. Eighteen members who save 10% with her are eighteen reasons to say yes, and they're the pitch at every coffee.

The Saturday scoreboard

Five numbers, every week. The dashboard counts most of them.

Members

Against the plan: 18 by day 90

Offers made in the chair

Every facial client, every visit

Say-yes rate

One in eight or better

Cancellations

Fewer than 1 in 20 a month

Names on the talent list

15 by week 4

After day 90

Two engines. Both keep running.

Members keep coming from the chair and from referrals. Artists add a second income on top. Each gate is a number, so every step is earned by the one before it.

Engine 1 · Members

The chair, referrals, the site

Months 4–6	30 members
About four new members a month
Month 6	+$2,270
Dues about $4,770 a month, with this much left for Evelyn's pay
Year 2	50 members
Dues alone cover the business and about $5,100 a month of pay
Room check	¼ of open hours
50 members is about 12 facials a week

Engine 2 · Talent

Matches the Growth Blueprint's pipeline

Months 4–5	2 artists
Sign the two pilot artists, if day 90 passed
Month 6	Pilot live
The pilot goes live, free for 90 days, then 12%
Month 12	The gate
Go or no-go: 15% of their clients book Evelyn
Year 2	6–8 artists
The Collective: lease signed, pilot artists pick first

Once artists join, members' 10% with them costs Lumevina about $6 a member a month, and the minimum stays at 15.

Fifteen by day ninety. Then keep building.

All figures are estimates from current menu prices and assumed costs. Replace the bills with Evelyn's real statements before deciding. A companion to the Lumevina Growth Blueprint. Not financial or legal advice.

Another way · if product leads

Five facials. The shelf does the rest.

About five facials a week, and a monthly product subscription that takes none of Evelyn's hours.

The chair · 5 facials a week

Facials still pay the bills, with some left over

Facials a month 5 a week, Tuesday to Saturday	about 22
Sales At about $190 a visit	$4,120
Kept after supplies and card fees About $88 of every $100	$3,640
Business bills The same bills as page 2	-$2,000
Left for Evelyn's pay	$1,640

What each Glow Routine subscriber leaves

Per subscriber, per month

Glow Routine, a month Refills and a daily skin supplement, chosen by Evelyn	$75
Product cost Wholesale is usually about half the price	-$37.50
Card fee 2.9% + 30¢	-$2.48
Shipping and packaging Averaged: many pick up at a visit	-$4
Each subscriber leaves	$31

The trade $100 of facials keeps about $88; $100 of product keeps about $41. A member keeps about $142 and takes an hour; a subscriber keeps about $31 and takes none. About 4.6 subscribers earn what one member does.

Subscribers needed

Glow Routine at $75 a month, with five facials a week

Pay Evelyn $3,000 a month · 44 subscribers Facials plus subscribers	Pay Evelyn $4,000 a month · 76 subscribers Facials plus subscribers	Outsell the facials · 55 subscribers More product sales than facial sales	Out-earn the facials · 118 subscribers More kept from product than from facials
--	--	---	---

How to run it

If this becomes the plan

Cap the facial spots 12 facial memberships with a waitlist. Her time is the scarce thing, so facials can price up again.	Every facial ends with a routine The chair is where subscribers start: five facials a week become new routines.	The Glow Routine, $75 a month Evelyn's pick of refills and a daily skin supplement, a seasonal update, a 15-minute video check-in each quarter, 10% off facials.
Start without inventory A practitioner dispensary ships supplements for you at a lower margin. Buy the steady sellers wholesale once they prove out.	Check before selling supplements Seller's permit and sales tax, insurance that covers products, the brand's own wording, and a doctor's OK in pregnancy or on medication.	Expect more cancelling Plan for about 1 in 10 subscribers a month until real numbers arrive, so the chair and the site keep bringing new ones.

At five facials a week, a part-time or shared room could cut the biggest bill. Every $140 less a month is one fewer member, or about five fewer subscribers.